<http://www.ielts.org>

IELTS tests all four language skills – Listening, Reading, Writing and Speaking. The Speaking test is a face-to-face interview with a certified Examiner. It is interactive and as close to a real-life situation as a test can get.

Research shows that IELTS motivates test-takers to develop real and well-rounded English rather than learning by rote. This means your understanding of English is improved and valid for real life in an English-speaking country.

IELTS is owned by three reputable, international organisations. It has the highest quality control and security procedures. More than 6000 organisations, including many government departments and universities, rely on IELTS. The IELTS scoring system is recognised globally, giving you a truly international result.

Format: The teacher takes an intensive hour and a half class will then set targeted and timed work for students to achieve during their own time and then bring back to the next class.

Fee:

£16 total fee for each two hour session - payment is weekly in advance for the number of days you plan to take that week.
